

How does home health help my practice?

We have the same goal: To help ensure patients recover as quickly and efficiently as possible – or manage their chronic condition to achieve the best possible quality of life.

We work with you to implement a care strategy that improves patient outcomes and maximizes operational efficiency. In effect, our home health is a “house call” that we make on your behalf.

If your patients would benefit from front-loaded visits, medication reconciliation, seamless care coordination, and aggressive monitoring, we can help. Our proven clinical programs reduce the likelihood of avoidable readmission.

We can be your patient’s first call. Our skilled clinicians recognize and address potential problems before they get out of control – providing your patients with a higher level of confidence and peace of mind.

Our goal is to help your patients maintain their independence and reduce frequent and unnecessary calls or visits to your office or trips to the ER. Our home health professionals help keep your patients out of the hospital and recovering in the comfort of home.

We are an extension of the education that you are able to provide in the hospital/clinic. You can rest easy knowing that every avenue has been taken to help your patient become compliant and to self-manage their recovery or disease process. We can take the weight off of your shoulders – and the worry and wondering about what is actually going on in the home.

We’re on your team. We will make sure that the plan of care you prescribe is followed thoroughly and accurately.

Home health provides assistance with many aspects of recovery and condition management:

- Improve your Medicare patient’s compliance through teaching and training in the home
- Help managing medications
- Understanding diseases and/or conditions
- Making healthy food choices
- Monitoring treatment progress
- Minimizing the risk of falls, infections, and other setbacks
